The packet has now passed all of the lower echelon reviews and is in the Director's Office for signature of the transmittal memo (which informs the BLM director that the partial withdrawal application package has been reviewed and recommends approval of the withdrawal action the DOI Assistant Secretary).

Unfortunately, both our Associate State Director and State Director have heavy travel and meeting schedules this week, so nobody is sure when the memo will get signed. I'm leaving for Grand Junction at noon and won't return until Friday. I'll check on it as soon as I return to be sure it gets entered into our Document Tracking System, which is how we transmit Withdrawal Packages to the Washington Office.

Respectfully,
